Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

- a. Claim 3 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bledsoe et al. Bledsoe et al discloses a base (46), a back support (28) a leg support pivotally mounted (208) and a sliding foot pedal mechanism (264) having a first bracket (248) and a pivotal foot pedal (252) and a fastener (258).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

- a. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bledsoe et al as applied to claim 3 above, and further in view of Miller. Bledsoe discloses all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for a turnbuckle. Miller teaches a turnbuckle. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Bledsoe in view of the teaching of Miller such that a turnbuckle is capable of serving as a fastening mechanism.

b. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bledsoe et al as applied to claim 3 above, and further in view of Polonchek. Bledsoe discloses all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for a hole on the first bracket and a plurality of holes on the leg support. Polonchek teaches the invention as claimed having a bracket (120) and holes (125) in Figure 1. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Bledsoe in view of the teaching of Polonchek such that a plurality of holes serves to make adjustable the distance of the device in relation to the user's size.

c. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bledsoe et al as applied to claim 3 above, and further in view of Genovese et al. Bledsoe discloses all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for a heel cushion and slot. Genovese et al teaches a heel cushion (22) and a slot. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Bledsoe in view of the teaching of Genovese et al such that a cushion provides additional comfort to a user's limbs and a slot firmly secures a limb in the device.

2. Claims 7-10 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Claims 11 –29 are allowed.
